

FUNERAL OF REED SECOND GUN VICTIM

Bullet Extracted May Determine Who Fired Fatal Shot—Estes Clinging To Life

The body of Henry Reed, shot early Friday morning during the alleged attempt of Marshal Philpot to search a suit case said to have been the property of George Estes, a prisoner in Reed's charge, who died Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, was sent from the Patton A. Clay hospital on Saturday night to Clay City, his former home, for burial, which occurred Monday.

The effort to save Reed's life by the transfusion of blood, his brother, Robert Reed, making the sacrifice, being in vain. Reed did not speak to any extent of the trouble, as a result of which two men have already died and another is in a serious condition. George Estes, prisoner of Deputy Sheriff Reed, remains in a critical condition and his recovery is a matter of doubt, in the opinion of Dr. O. F. Hume.

A brother of Mrs. Reed came to the hospital Saturday morning and arranged for the funeral of his brother-in-law in case death ensued. The officer died before the departure of this relative. Henry Reed was born and raised in the vicinity of Clay City. His wife, who is left with seven children, was overcome with the news of the death of her husband. Her health is said to have been bad for some time and it was only with the assistance of friends and neighbors who flocked to her home that she was able to go to her old home city and attend the funeral of her husband.

The death of Reed leaves but two out of four of the alleged participants in the fatal shooting which stirred the neighborhood and country for many miles around. George Estes and Joe Spivey, the latter an L. & N. detective, being the survivors. The latter claims Reed was shot by Officer Philpot. Reed is said to have attributed the shooting to Spivey, who is said to have also shot Estes, the prisoner of Reed, when escaping from the scene of the tragedy after both Philpot and Reed had been shot.

The extraction of a bullet from the body of Reed will prove valuable evidence, since the caliber of Reed's revolver is known to have been a .44, while that of Spivey was a .38, and that of Marshal Philpot being a .30-30. Luger, a German-made weapon. It is declared there are no empty chambers in the Philpot gun, in which case it is very evident, it is claimed Spivey fired the shot that killed Reed, should the bullet be of a .38 caliber, since Spivey is said to have been the only man in the crowd who had a gun of that caliber. Estes, who denies having a revolver, or even a penknife, is said by Spivey to have had a .32 caliber revolver. However, the caliber of the bullet taken from the body of Reed is the important link which will connect the shooting of the man who fired the shot, since there were but four men said to have figured in the shooting, all having revolvers of different caliber.

STIVER PREDICTS BUMPER CROPS NOW

J. O. Stiver, of Brassfield, came to Richmond bright and early Saturday morning and reported that if there was not a bumper crop of corn, he missed his guess, and admitted that he was some guesser. Mr. Stiver said that the conditions were such as to put all farmers in a good humor and said one more rain, just one more good rain would place the tobacco in a condition for cutting in the near future, and predicted this work would be under way soon. He stated that some of the best corn seen in Madison county for years was to be found in the vicinity of the Madison-Estill line, and there was no kick coming on the part of the average farmer over the crops. While some of the tobacco has suffered as a result of rust or blight, Mr. Stiver declares the crop will average pretty good, and far better than was expected some time ago.

TOBACCO GROWERS HOLD BIG MEETING

Reports Received From Lexington Meeting With Satisfaction

The meeting of the Madison county tobacco growers Saturday afternoon at the court house, to hear reports from the meeting at Lexington held on Wednesday, was largely attended, and there was general satisfaction expressed by producers over the fact that the cut-out for next year's crop had been voted down. There were a few discussions regarding the future movements, however, the details of a permanent organization were not gone into, since there was, in a way, considerable unfinished business.

The chief object was to hear the progress of the meeting at Lexington, the reports of which were listened to with unusual interest. The court room was filled with growers from every part of the county, since all are interested in the movement. Many were in favor of the organization for the local growers, and that affiliation with those of other counties in this and other states.

The aim is to produce, first, as valuable a crop of tobacco as possible, then to protect the price of same. One of the most interesting talks of the afternoon, was that of Mr. Jesse Cobb, who favored the organization and who expressed the opinion that next year's crop would be duly raised, and prices properly regulated, with the hearty co-operation of others. Waller Bennett took an optimistic view of the situation, stating that he had great faith in the growers of this and other counties, and believed a fair price would be procured for the product next year. There was no future meeting set, but one may be called at any time. The movements of the big organization perfected at Lexington will be watched with interest.

He is a brother of Jim Parks, formerly a big league pitcher and now a Lexington lawyer and coach at Transylvania University. Capt. Parks is one of the purchasers of the Campbell-Coates Drug Company.

BARKLEY SPEAKS FOR DEMOCRACY

Gifted Congressman Delivers Strong Argument For Election of Cox

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Chairman Hays and White, of the Democratic and Republican National Committees, the treasurer of each committee and treasurer of Senatorial and Congressional campaign committees of each party, today were ordered to appear before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures here next Monday and bring all books and papers relating to the campaign.

The committee directed a telegram sent to Gov. Cox asking him to appear Monday or send a representative, to present any evidence he may have about the republicans raising a $15,000,000 campaign fund.

FROM BARKLEY'S SPEECH

"I ask you mothers, as well as fathers, whether it would not pay to join the League of Nations, if it would but keep your boys out of even just one frightful war?"

"The Democratic slogan is something like this: 'Equality to all, special privilege to none.'"

"The spirit of true democracy was never more exemplified than in the principles for which the party is fighting this year."

"America did not fight for territorial rights. America fought for civilization—let's keep it, and assure it while we have the opportunity."

"Harding says the tariff question is the paramount issue of this campaign. The Republicans have been promising every four years for the past fifty years to revise it—and what did they do?"

"They say wages are the highest ever known and it is untrue. Do you want the old, old wage and day of living, and are there any bank failures now?"

"There are men and women, too, now who have bank accounts who did not have energy enough a few years ago to have anything, even an amiable disposition. They are independent. Do you want to continue to be independent?"

In an eloquent and forceful address Saturday afternoon at the Madison county court house to an audience which well filled the county court room, Hon. Alben W. Barkley, Congressman from the First district, informally, as he stated, opened the Democratic campaign in Richmond and as an exponent of Democracy touched upon the vital issues of the day.

Describing the issues in a clear manner, easily understood, he was interrupted repeatedly by applause. There was a liberal attendance of ladies in the audience, and this fact was not overlooked by the speaker. One of the chief attributes of Congressman Barkley, as a political speaker, and one that appeals to all fair-minded persons, is his almost total absence of harangue relative to the opposing party. When he drives home his point, he strikes from the shoulder, and there is something coming in the way of Republican shortcoming. This ends the criticism. He turns the discourse directly to the many big things accomplished by the Democrats and draws a vivid word picture of their accomplishments; then turns the picture upside down, so to speak, showing the daubs presented by the Republican brush. He drew comparisons of the principles of both parties, using as illustrations such powerful subjects as the League of Nations, the unprecendented financial situation and banking systems; the slogan of the Democratic party, which, summed up, is "Equality to all, special privilege to none," the federal banking system, immense farmers' loans, etc. Incontrovertible evidence of the constructive powers of the Democratic party, the increase in wages, recognition of the working man, wherein he has been drawn from the mire, the immense sums being paid today by corporations or companies who heretofore laughed at the petition of the workingman for an advance in wages.

Another phase of his speech was the cry of the Republicans which was to the effect that there was a lack of stability marking every phase of any Democratic venture in the financial world. The absurdity of this was illustrated by the statement of the fact that there has not been a financial crisis, nor scarcely a single bank failure, since the Democratic reign.

The spirit of true democracy was never more clearly portrayed than in the principles it advocates today, a fact touched upon by Judge John C. Chennault, as chairman of the Madison County Democratic Campaign Committee, in his introductory remarks. The presence of so many ladies, as was also mentioned by Judge Chennault, who stated that the influence as well as the preserving qualities of the women were needed and welcomed in the campaign. The importance of this tremendous influx of votes was characterized as significant, and dwelt upon at length by both speakers.

Judge Barkley stated that it is a matter to the people, whether they should accept the principles which have stimulated trade, and made the nation a creditor, instead of a debtor. He declared emphatically that all should understand these principles, but added there is not a sufficiently large front porch for all to hear from, hence his visit to Richmond at the invitation of the local county committee. Mr. Barkley injected sufficient spice into his arguments to render them doubly interesting. However, sticking persistently to the successful manner in which the United States has arisen in the estimation of the world, since the outbreak of the war, of its high purpose in entering the war, which was not for territorial gain, but for the purpose of preventing a repetition of the most colossal crime in the history of the world, which menaced Christianity and threatened the upheaval of the entire world. He advocated the League of Nations, stating that the present trouble between the Bolsheviks and Poland, as well as the outburst of strength and egotism of Germany, would have been eliminated had there been a League of Nations effective at the time. Furthermore, he asserted that had the peace treaty been duly signed, there would not be the threatened European situation existing today. Taking up Senator Harding's repudiation of the League of Nations, Barkley pointed out that in it now are all civilized countries and nations, with the exception of "Bloody Bolsheviks of Russia, unspeakable Turkey, distracted Mexico—and, the most progressive, highest aiming and most beloved nation on earth, the United States." He predicted that if Mr. Harding decided to have a League of Nations of his own, he would have these nations with the United States, and the speaker felt that such associates are not to his liking, nor that of the American people. He was greeted here with continued applause that prevented his resumption for some time.

Details of the cost of war were given graphically, and the splendid results obtained, and Congressman Barkley asked whether the great sacrifice should have been in vain and this country remain and accept the situation as it would be according to the liking of the Republican candidate. Here the pulse of the audience was felt quickly and in an apparently unconscious manner, for there was what sounded like an unanimous "no" throughout the room. The argument favoring the League of Nations, as well as the part to be taken by the women of the country this year was given special attention. Mr. Barkley asking the question, whether it would not be worthwhile "to take a chance for safety first, and join the League of Nations on trial if nothing else, if it would but keep the 2,500,000 American boys at home during just one war?" There was a hush over the entire room, which seemed as if deserted, when the query was presented. A woman, apparently 60, sitting near the writer surreptitiously bowed her head and pressed a handkerchief to her moistened eyes.

Judge Barkley paid high tribute to the great work that Gov. Cox has done as Governor of Ohio. He has known him for many years and was in attendance at the San Francisco convention which nominated Cox. He struck a respon-

TENNESSEE HOUSE MEMBERS EXPLAIN

(By Associated Press)

Decatur, Ala., Aug. 23.—Members of the Tennessee House who fled the state in order to break the quorum and prevent the passage of the federal suffrage amendment, today issued a statement calling on the people of Tennessee to hold a mass meeting next Saturday and pass resolutions indicating their attitude. They reiterated they do not believe the passage of the suffrage resolution represented the will of the people, and asserted it was their purpose to stay away from Tennessee until the people expressed themselves.

"We felt to have ratified the amendment," the statement recites, "would have been to surrender the sovereign rights of the state on the question of suffrage, one of the most important sacred rights conferred. The only defense the people of Tennessee had at this juncture rested in our hands and the only way we could serve them was the course we have taken. We fully understand our action could only be justified the tremendous issues involved."

Advantages of the South
"An increase of $2,000 in the south is worth about twice what it is worth in the great industrial centers in the north," says the editor of the Sun and New York Herald in the course of an editorial on the federal income tax law, but incidentally giving the south some very valuable advertising as the ideal place in which to live, especially for the of moderate income.
"In climates and circumstances where housing costs are relatively low, as in the south, where fuel bills for heating purposes are slight, where warm, heavy and expensive clothing is not necessary and where even food is more plentiful and generally cheaper"—another extract from the same editorial.
What better description of the advantages of the south as a land where every prospect pleases could be given by the most enthusiastic booster? And all on the editorial page, too, far away from any commonplace trade advertising matter.

ROOSEVELT SETS WEST ON FIRE

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., who is reporting for the New York Times, writes the following from Portland, Oregon, to the Times and Courier-Journal:
"I have just had an interview with Franklin D. Roosevelt in which he explained many times his wish to be quoted correctly 'back east.'"
"I should like to say perfectly clearly," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that this western country is taking a tremendous interest in the campaign. It is astonishing to see how many persons are realizing more and more every day that Gov. James M. Cox has democratic progressiveness at heart. I have never known a political campaign to start out with so much intelligent interest so early in the season. If this is true 'back east' it means the election of Mr. Cox."
"The League of Nations is decidedly the paramount issue. Everybody wants to hear about it. These westerners do not want to take any more chances about war."
"I am trying to explain it to them in big terms. I am trying to show them that the dispute in the senate was merely one of words. The people of the great west are thoroughly certain as to their wish for a league and I am trying to impress on them that the constitution is supreme, league or no league, and that, with reservations, American constitutional rights could never be infringed by any league whatsoever."
"Yesterday morning when I spoke from my train in Yakima, I saw some weary-looking people in a ramshackle old auto in the rear. After the speech an old woman came up to me."
"I am a republican by birth," she said, "but we have come 48 miles by auto this morning just to hear you speak. We believe we are going to turn our votes over to Mr. Cox if he means what you have told us ranchers out here."
"If that is the feeling in Yakima, what must it be elsewhere?"
"One outstanding feature of this campaign I find is the absolute breaking down of all party lines."

Gov. Cox Wants To Know About That Fund, Too

Dayton, O., Aug. 23—A request on Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, for information regarding republican campaign funds as made by Gov. James M. Cox, democratic presidential candidate, who came here from Columbus.
Mr. Cox declared that Mr. Hays' statement regarding republican funds was not a reply to the Governor's charges that the republicans were raising a fund of $15,000,000.
"I was very much gratified," said Mr. Cox, "that Mr. Hays made his response, but as I read his statement, it's no denial. He says the irregular preliminary 'estimate' is $3,000,000. That doesn't mean anything."
"I want Mr. Hays to tell us into how many subdivisions the country was divided by the republican managers. I want him to tell us how many subdivisions and what territories each covers, and incidentally I want him to tell what the quota was that was imposed on each district."
"He had spoken publicly often about these quotas and the public is entitled to this information. The Senate Investigating Committee will insist on it, and why not have it now?"
In addition to this statement, Mr. Cox said that in his speeches late this week he would deal further with the question of republican finances. He has promised evidence to support his charges that $15,000,000 was the republican "low mark with the sky apparently the limit."

Federal Agent H. R. Sanfley on Thursday captured the biggest still ever taken in this section of the state. It was located on Buck creek about seven miles east of Waynesburg and consisted of one 90-gallon copper still and worm, 400 gallons of still beer and six large fermenters. The beer in the fermenters had been set only about five hours before the officer discovered it, but the operators had flown.

¶ The HOOVER SUCTION SWEEPER is the largest selling electric cleaner in the world because it exclusively combines the three essentials for thorough cleaning—BEATING, SWEEPING and SUCTION.

¶ You want to buy the most satisfactory electric cleaner? You want the one that will remove all the dirt? Then take the trouble to investigate thoroughly. There is a big difference in electric cleaners. Learn how they differ and why.

¶ We are the sole agents of the HOOVER in Richmond, and we will gladly bring one of these wonderful machines into your home and demonstrate how the HOOVER beats—as it sweeps—as it cleans.

¶ The HOOVER Guaranteed Bond—As a HOOVER purchaser you are entitled to a Guarantee Bond made out in your name and signed by the Hoover Suction Sweeper Company, the world's oldest, largest, most successful makers of electric cleaners.

¶ TESTIMONIALS from concerns that bear weight.—Read over the following letter from one of the largest carpet manufacturers in New York City:—

THE HOOVER SUCTION SWEEPER COMPANY,
New Berlin, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—

We find the HOOVER SWEEPER an excellent device for cleaning CREX. As the Hoover does not depend upon any pressure or rubbing on the fabric to obtain its cleaning effect, it seems obvious that any damage must be impossible. For this reason we feel justified in approving it for use on CREX.

We are very glad to recommend the Hoover for this work, and remain,

Yours very truly, CREX CARPET COMPANY,
New York City.

¶ We also have on file in our offices letters of recommendation of the Hoover Sweeper from Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co., New York; American Rug & Carpet Co., Chicago; Nye & Wait-Kilmarnock Corporation, Auburn, N. Y., manufacturers of high grade seamless rugs.

¶ Recommendations from such manufacturers should help you decide the cleaner worth your consideration. However, for those who want recommendations from parties nearer home, we invite you to come in and we will take you into some of the homes right here in Richmond who are now using the HOOVER Cleaner.

¶ Remember we are willing to bring a HOOVER into your home for a demonstration on any rug or carpet you have in the house. If it doesn't do the work we claim it will do, we won't say another word about carpet cleaners.

¶ Remember the demonstration will cost you nothing, and you will be under no obligation to buy. Arrange with us for a demonstration this week.

Now Is An Excellent Time to Get Rid of Its Tortures.

Rheumatism is more than a mere local disorder confined to the locality of the painful parts. It cannot be rubbed away, because it is a deep-seated disease that has its source in the blood supply. It is the most thorough and reliable blood remedy because it searches out and eliminates the disease germs which infest the blood. MANY ATTEND BIG MEETING SUNDAY

Evangelist DeGarmo Attracting Large Crowds and Doing Good Work Here

At the court house Sunday afternoon Evangelist DeGarmo conducted a mass meeting for men, using as his text the Scripture, "Wherefore put away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor; for we are members of one another. Be ye angry and sin not; let not the sun go down upon your wrath; neither give place to the devil. Let him that stole steal no more; let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth."—Eph. 4: 25-29.

An inspiring scene followed at the close of the service when he asked those present who would rededicate their lives to Christ and the church to come forward and give their hands to the three pastors present, Rev. O. O. Green, Rev. M. T. Chandler and Rev. L. A. Byrd. More than half of the audience responded.

The Saturday night service at the church was one of the best of the meeting. The evangelist delivered a heart-searching message on "Hell." He declared a just God has to punish the sinner. "You can't do away with hell without denying there is no heaven," said the preacher. Then he quoted, "And these shall go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life eternal."—Matt. 25:46. Heaven and hell are taught in the same verse of Scripture. The only escape from hell is through the atoning blood of Christ. At the close of the service ten confessions were made and three memberships by letter.

A large audience was present Sunday morning, many driving in from the country. On the subject, "Rewards in Heaven," the evangelist said in part: "The reason for so much confusion and deception in the religious world is because men mix the Bible teachings of salvation with the teachings of rewards. Salvation is a free gift of God and men must accept it as such. 'The wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.'—Rom. 6:23. 'Every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labor.' 1 Cor. 3:8. 'If salvation is a free gift how can it be a reward? Therefore, men are saved because of what Jesus did for them; rewarded for who they do for Jesus. The key to the understanding of the Bible is separation of the teaching of salvation from the teaching of rewards. You can mix these two teachings and understand the Bible.'"

The church was taxed to its capacity at the Sunday night service, some being unable to get seats. The subject was, "What Shall I Do to be Saved?"—Acts 16:30-31. Two were united by letter. Services will continue daily at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. throughout the week. There will be no service Tuesday morning.

Another Big Boyle Land Sale

The I. M. Dunn Real Estate Agency of Danville, made another fine sale of farm land Thursday when the L. H. Brown farm located three miles from Danville on the Lebanon pike, was sold under the hammer to Whittitt Bean, of Mercer county, at $255.05 per acre. Mr. Brown bought this place some months ago at about one hundred dollars an acre less. The farm was first offered in two tracts. The tract with the brick residence and containing 15+ acres was knocked off to Whittitt Bean at $286.10 per acre. The chief bidden against him was Charles Dean, of Garrard county. The second tract containing 90 acres, was knocked off to J. P. Hancock, of Lincoln county, at $200.50 an acre. The average for the entire farm was $255.05 per acre. Then the farm was put up and sold as a whole to Whittitt Bean at $255.05 an acre, an increase of one cent on the price when the place was sold in two tracts. Col. Dunn was on the block and handled the sale in splendid manner and those present characterized the sale as one of the best they had ever seen.

JOS. LEWIS DIES AT COLLEGE HILL

Joseph Lewis, 81, one of the oldest and best-known residents of Madison county, died Sunday morning at 8 o'clock at his home, College Hill, after an illness of a few hours. The funeral services will be conducted on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, the Rev. G. V. Todd officiating.

Mr. Lewis became ill suddenly on Sunday morning and members of the household were summoned to his bedside, where his condition was found to be serious as a result of convulsions. A physician was immediately called, but the convulsive attack continued for several hours until death resulted. Mr. Lewis had been a resident of the county all of his life, and was extensively and favorably known. He was a member of the Methodist church at College Hill, and was known for his benevolence and other good qualities. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. C. M. Tribble and Mrs. W. F. Tribble, the consignee.

48 Divorce Cases In Boyle

A great contest is now going on at the court house. The contestants are coming down the home stretch neck and neck and not an eyelash's distance between them. The sheriff's force have 48 criminal cases on docket to date to be heard in the September session of the circuit court. The circuit court clerk and his assistants have lined up 48 divorce cases for hearing at the fall term. With the end of the contest just a few weeks off, the winner is still in doubt. Odds on the race seem to favor the divorce clerk, although Sheriff Farris can be counted on giving criminal cases a good ride. —Danville Messenger.
